

PROBATION JOURNAL – SEEKING NEW EDITOR

The Probation Journal is seeking to appoint a new editor for a minimum 3-year term. The Probation Journal was established in 1929 and is internationally recognised as one of the foremost publications in the field of probation and community justice. The journal is published by SAGE in association with NAPO. The Editorial Board comprises practitioners and academics and is editorially independent. The Board meets four times per year, and the Editor is responsible for chairing the Editorial Board, collating Board feedback on submissions, and providing feedback to authors. The Editor also writes editorials and oversees the production process for the journal. The Editor works closely with the journal's Managing Editor as well as with the wider Board and represents the Journal at public events.

If you are interested in applying for this role, please submit a CV and a letter (approx. 1-page) outlining your suitability for the role to: probation.journal@gmail.com before the deadline of 10th June 2024. Shortlisted applicants will be invited for interview with representatives of the Board.

For any informal queries about the role, please contact: nicola.carr@nottingham.ac.uk